

When the people of Israel was in the desert, Pharaoh and his army came after them.

“Moses,” they cried, “have you brought us to the desert to die?” “We should have stayed in Egypt!” “God left us!” Moses told the people, “Do not fear and see how God will protect us!”

God told Moses, “Take your staff and stretch it over the sea.” When Moses did so, a great wind blew and suddenly the water became two walls and dry land appeared. The people of Israel moved past the divided waters. But when the Egyptian armies followed them, the water walls closed! Pharaoh and his armies drowned in the water. The people of Israel thanked God.
