

Samson was a very strong man. His strength came from his very long hair that God gave him.

Samson used that strength to fight the Philistines for the Israelites.

Samson liked Delilah. Delilah took other people's money and asked Samson questions.

“Samson! Where does your strength come from?”

Delilah asked Samson every day. Samson told her the truth one day.

“My strength comes from my long hair.”

Delilah then secretly cut off Samson's hair as he was sleeping!

Samson lost his strength. The Philistines caught Samson and put him in jail. They put him in chains and made him do hard work. But Samson's hair started growing back.

The Philistines had a very big party one day. They saw Samson and made fun of him. Samson prayed to God.

“God, please give me strength one more time!”

Samson pushed at the two pillars the party house.

Suddenly there was a huge crack! The building collapsed and Samson and the Philistines died.

Thinking Child

The piggy bank got heavier every day. Even when Nate wasn't looking his mom kept her promise. Nate learned that he had to keep his promises, too, even when no one was looking.

One day Nate, his little sister, and his mom went to see a play.

There were kids in the theater who were running around and being loud. Namwoo wanted to run around and play too, but Nate remembered his promise to his mom.

“You can get hurt if you run around in places where there are a lot of people, so you need to stay still.”

So Nate quietly watched the play. His sister looked at her older brother and stayed still too. Nate’s mom was happy to see them both.
