Open Your Heart

This cool sports car has the best design and performance. It has a 4-cylinder engine with a maximum output of 500 horsepower. In addition to this, because it's a hybrid car, it gets 50 miles to the gallon. It can go from 0 to 60 miles per hour in just 3.2 seconds and can reach a maximum speed of 200 mph. This car is truly at the very top of the line.

However, if this incredibly powerful car did not have functioning brakes, would you still drive this car?

Understanding Today's Lesson

The life of faith after salvation is not comparable to that of a short sprint but rather a long marathon. It takes a lot of virtue to compete and emerge victorious in such a long race. One of those virtues is self-control. To be able to qualify for a race and compete to win the prize, an athlete must be temperate in all things. There is a lot of suffering during this process, but we continue to endure in order to achieve our goals. The Bible says that "everyone who competes for the prize is temperate in all things." Self-control is a virtue that should be emphasized even more for those who are in their youth and are in the process of preparing for the future.

Among the many great figures in the Bible, there were many people like us who, in their teens, were able to be used preciously by the Lord because they exercised self-control. For example, in the Old Testament, Joseph was tempted by Potiphar's wife in Egypt while he was still in his youth. However, by looking onto God and exercising self-control, Joseph was able to rise up and become the Prime Minister of Egypt, Daniel, who was taken to the foreign land of Babylon, also purposed his heart before God and refused the king's delicacies offered in the palace. Because of his life of self-control, Daniel was elevated to the position of governor over Babylon and Persia. There are many things in this world that tempt us as Christians. And internally, there is the lust of the flesh that goes against the will of the Lord. What must we do to be able to exercise self-control against these temptations and live a victorious Christian life?

Praying

To Live According to the Word

Let us pray so that when there is something I want that is displeasing to God, I will be able to have the heart and strength to restrain myself from it.

Our Story

Spiritual Orphan

But the orphans...they would sit quietly in front of the school even when the sun was setting.

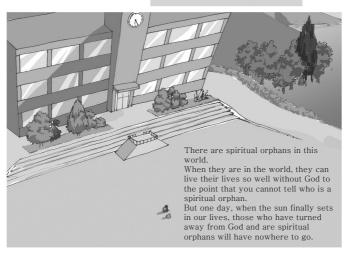

When I was young, there were many orphans at my school.

When we were all together, we did not know who the orphans were, but after school ended, it became apparent.

The children who had parents went home when the sun started to set.

Then the dust will return to the earth as it was, And the spirit will return to God who gave it. (Ecclesiastes 12:7)

Parable

Rule Over Yourself

One day, a young man came to D.L. Moody and asked him a question.

"Mr. Moody, now that I am converted, must I give up the world?"

That was when Moody answered,

"No, you haven't got to give up the world. If you give a good ringing testimony for the Son of God, the world will give you up pretty quick; they won't want you around."

It is not easy for us to be able to overcome our fleshly lusts and desires. That is why Moody also said that "I have had more trouble with myself than with any other man I have ever met." And if we are not able to overcome our flesh, then we will lose the strength to preach to unbelievers.

"If you indulge in yourself, you will lose your ability. I do not believe that I can live with the fullness of God's power while living in luxury, fulfilling my natural desires, and coveting delicious food. The fulfillment of the body and the fullness of the Holy Spirit cannot go hand in hand."
